

Procumbens Juniper

A photograph showing a large area of Procumbens Juniper plants. The plants are a vibrant green color and form a thick, carpet-like ground cover. They are growing on a slight incline next to a brick building with a concrete foundation. A concrete walkway is visible on the right side of the image, and a potted plant sits on a ledge nearby.

- Low Growing, Spreading Ground Cover
- At Maturity, The Plant Becomes Carpet-Like
- Great Plant on Unmowable Hillsides
- GROWTH: 6 INCHES TALL AND 10 FT. WIDE